Orange County Government Center to be Open for Business, Tuesday, September 6
First day opened after week-long closure

(Goshen, NY) – The Orange County Government Center located at 255 Main Street in Goshen will be OPEN for business tomorrow, Tuesday, September 6, 2011. Residents requiring government services at this location may utilize them during normal business hours, and the county workforce is requested to report at their normal time to their departments as usual.

“I want to thank county residents for being patient with us while we made repairs to the Government Center’s electrical utility room. Also, State DMV computers are now fully operational after service interruptions,” said County Executive Edward A. Diana. “I appreciate how the county workforce stayed committed to our customers by serving them at different locations throughout the county, even though many of them were impacted by Hurricane Irene.”
